

Physician - Division of Gynecologic Oncology

Joint Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology – University Health Network and Sinai Health System

The University Health Network (UHN) and Sinai Health System (SHS) in partnership with the University of Toronto, Temerty Faculty of Medicine, Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, is seeking a Full-time GYNECOLOGIC ONCOLOGIST with demonstrated excellence in Gynecologic Oncology to practice within our multi-disciplinary setting. The anticipated start date is July 2024.

The Gynecologic Oncology at UHN and SHS is integrated into a multidisciplinary group including medical and radiation oncology, pathology and radiology. This group is the largest of its kind in Canada and one of the largest in North America with over 1,000 consultations per year, providing comprehensive care to women with gynaecologic malignancies. The addition of expert programs provides the opportunity for applicants to focus on specific areas of interest. The Division participates in teaching of trainees at all levels and it includes a Royal College accredited Gynecologic Oncology Fellowship Program at the University of Toronto, Faculty of Medicine. The Division has a robust and productive research program that includes basic, translational, clinical, health services and global health initiatives. Research forms a high strategic priority and is strongly supported by the Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at UHN and SHS.

The qualified applicants should be certified (or eligible for certification) by the RCPSC and must hold an MD degree, be licensed (or eligible for licensure) in the Province of Ontario. The successful candidate must be eligible for an academic appointment with the University of Toronto's Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at the minimum rank of Assistant Professor. Remuneration will be discussed upon application. The successful candidate will promote and demonstrate excellence in professional practice and conduct.

Qualified candidates are requested to apply with a letter of interest to:
